

Discovery

I want to discover you.
My bags are all empty.
My heart is no porter.

I see what surrounds us.
It is not what you think
But a bright shining light.

Do you feel the forever
That each moment holds
As a gift in our honor?

In each ray of hope
That you and I count
There are infinite stars.